Position at the Daily: Public Relations Manager

What did the Daily do for you: Planning community-wide events, marketing the Daily to the student body and facilitating promotional contests were just a few of the projects I worked on as part of the Daily Public Relations team. Many of the skills I developed at the Daily help me succeed at my current job on a regular basis. I learned to manage my peers, maximize my creativity and polish my communication skills without even realizing it because of what a great time I was having.
